CALL FOR PAPERS

Africa was once viewed by some as the ‘Dark Continent’ with a dominant narrative of poverty, wars, and under-development. Over the past decade, a new narrative of growth opportunities, value creation and inclusive development has taken hold, replacing the “heart of darkness” image. While significant challenges remain, stakeholders are moving away from the old model of top-down interventions to embrace a new paradigm of partnership underpinned by the agency of African people. Entrepreneurship is at the heart of this drive to transform challenges into shared opportunities, and launch a new era of growth and prosperity in the continent.

In the light of this, the Centre for Enterprise and Innovation at De Montfort University in Leicester, UK, invites scholars, practitioners, policy makers and other stakeholders to explore various dimensions of African Entrepreneurship at the 1st international conference on African Entrepreneurship. The conference aims to bring together a broad spectrum of participants with interests across various disciplines and sectors to explore new models of entrepreneurial activities in the continent. The conference will also feature a colloquium for PhD students on the first day of the conference. The thematic areas include, but are not limited to, the followings:

1. African entrepreneurship: concepts and evolution
2. Digital entrepreneurship and high-tech enterprises
3. Innovation ecosystems for entrepreneurial value creation
4. New models of entrepreneurial financing
5. New approaches to smallholder agriculture and value chains
6. Entrepreneurial and organisational resilience in turbulent environments
7. Open enterprises, communities and co-production
